SPECIFICATIONS BATHING AREA TESTING REQUIREMENTS

Owners/operators of bathing areas (public and private) are required under Rhode Island state law to ensure that bathing beach water meets bacteriological and safety standards set by the RI Department of Health (RI DOH) or the RI Department of Environmental Management (RIDEM).

SPECIFICATIONS

1. All bathing areas open the third Saturday in June and must be sampled the first week of June for enterococci bacteria. Initial test results must be received by the Recreation Department at 925 Sandy Lane, Warwick, RI, 02886 no later than June 16, 2017. All beaches will close for the season on Labor Day.
2. If any saltwater sample exceeds a single sample of 104 enterococci per 100 ml, the result must be called in IMMEDIATELY upon receipt to the Department of Health – Beach Monitoring at 222-7727.
Similarly, for freshwater, if any sample result exceeds 61 enterococci per 100 ml, the result must be called in IMMEDIATELY upon receipt to the Department of Health – Beach Monitoring at 222-7727.
Results will be immediately evaluated by RI DOH and facilities will be advised as to appropriate action. We ask that arrangements be made with laboratories to send all sample results directly to RI DOH via fax and/or e-mail.

These requirements will be determined following a review of characteristics of the bathing area including previous water quality testing results, the number of bathers using the facility, proximity of polluting sources, etc.
4. Requirements for additional testing, if any, will be communicated to the facility owner/operator after review of available information by RI DOH. All facilities will be advised if additional testing is required.
